Still to come before the summer term...

Southwark Schools
LEARNING PARTNERSHIP

This is the last SSLP News for the spring term, we'll be back again in May with news of more events for the summer term. Make sure that you and your pupils don't miss out on the opportunities lined up in April. There's information about university life at You and Uni organised by King's College on Thursday 30th March, and at Alleyn's Higher Education Fair on Wednesday 26th April. For those big thinkers out there we've secured FREE opportunities to attend the 2017 International Peace Summit on Saturday 1st April, and the Conservation Optimism Summit from Thursday 20th to Saturday 22nd April.

Geography - Professor Green

As promised Professor Green's talk at JAGS has been rescheduled for Tuesday 2nd May. David Green is the Professor of Historical Geography at King's College London, he has special interests in Social policy and Working Class Communities. He'll be focusing on London when he speaks about Changing Places.

Preparing for Higher Education

A group of 30 year 10 students with aspirations of attending a Russell Group university will be coming together from across the SSLP for a visit to Balliol College, Oxford in early May. Later on in the term year 12 students are invited to Alleyn's School for a Modern Languages Extension afternoon on Thursday 29th June.

Music - Glee Day

With room for 70 students from across the SSLP this is a rare opportunity for musical students in years 7 and 8 to experience the state-of-the-art facilities at Kingsdale school under the expert guidance of professionals. Places are filling up fast for Glee Wednesday 17th May.

English - Literary Festival

With events spread across the day JAGS Literary Festival on Monday 22nd May has fun opportunities for all ages. Places are limited so must be booked in advance, but with topics from Roman Mysteries and 3000 years of poetry to a psychological drama about loss, guilt and facing the truth - you're sure to find something to engage your book worms.

SSLP - Summer Term

The Link teachers from across the partnership will be meeting on Thursday 20th March to look at forthcoming events for the summer term. Whilst older students are busy with exams we'd like to offer our younger members some fun interactive events. If you have any ideas, please let us know.
