Get involved with these

Professor E.J. Milner-Gulland will be giving a talk at Dulwich College on the Illegal Wildlife Trade to A level Biologists and Geographers on Wednesday 15th March. The AQA GCSE English training is confirmed for Monday 20th March at Charter. Tuesday 21st March from 4-7pm Alleen's are organising a free Tennis Course for PE teachers at the Edward Alleen Club. Dr James Malcolm will be exploring the themes of Nationalism and Security on Wed 29th March.

Science - Science Week

It is British Science Week from 10th to 19th March. Are any SSLP schools getting involved? We would love to see some photographs and write-up about the engaging activities you provided. There are lots of ideas and activity packs on the British Science Week website. It's not too late to get involved!

Art - Going Nowhere

There is a Private View of the Going Nowhere art exhibition at Dulwich College on Friday 10th March at 6pm. Alongside the exhibits created by those living in the Kenyan Kakuma Refugee Camp, there will be a 24-hour sponsored row to raise funds for Mystart and Film Aid International.

Geography - Professor David Green

Due to a bomb scare at London Bridge station this event will be rearranged. Thanks goes out to the 30 students from four schools who waited patiently at JAGS on Tuesday evening. Another date will be organised for A level Geography to hear Professor Green discuss the changing role of London throughout history.

Thinking About University

King's College \(Strand\) have an event for estranged and care experienced students who would like to apply to Higher Education on Thursday 30th March. Alleen's are hosting a Higher Education Fair on Wednesday 26th April. The SSLP is looking for an early May date to organise an opportunity for gifted and talented Year 10 pupils who have the potential to aspire to an Oxbridge or Russell Group application when they reach Year 12.

Spanish CPD - Erasmus+

Did you know that all staff in UK schools are eligible to apply for CPD abroad? The Erasmus+ "mobilities" are designed to improve the teaching of modern European languages. Malaca Instituto, based in Malaga, has substantial experience in receiving teachers and other support staff for E+ funded programmes.
